www.marpsy.net/sched/

GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY 100 will be offered daily at MW 8-10am, F 8 by Dr. Pettijohn; MW 12:45-3p by Dr. Tylka; TR 10-12:30p by Dr. Shedlosky; and TR 5:30-7:45pm by Mrs. Hazelett. This is the introductory course, and is the prerequisite for advanced studies in psychology. It covers the range of psychology fields, including neuroscience, development, perception, learning, cognition, motivation, personality, clinical, and social psychology, and focuses on the scientific approach. It is a GEC social studies and diversity course.

HOW TO STUDY 120 (Academic and Personal Effectiveness) is taught MW 5:30-7pm by Mrs. Hazelett. This 'how to study' course helps students improve study skills by focusing on how to take effective lecture notes, how to read / study textbooks, and how to take tests. Psychology 120 is for any student who needs a jump-start on study skills and college survival. Psych 120 does not have any prerequisites.

INTRODUCTION TO DATA ANALYSIS IN PSYCHOLOGY 220 is a 5 credit course taught by Dr. Daddis on MW 1-3pm. This course is an introduction to the statistical analyses researchers use to examine behavioral data. Beyond understanding the theory behind statistical analyses, this course will place the use of statistics within the context of the research process. This includes a focus on how statistics are related to research designs, interpretation, and description of findings. Specifically, we will cover presentation of descriptive data (graphical and numerical techniques), sampling, and hypothesis testing. Inferential analyses will include t-tests, correlation, ANOVA, and regression. Students will have hands on experience analyzing data through the use of the statistical software package SPSS for data entry and analysis. Required of all psych majors.

RESEARCH METHODS IN PSYCHOLOGY 300 will be taught Autumn on TR 1-3p by Dr. Shedlosky. This 4 credit experimental methods psychology course involves students in learning about the research methods used in psychology. Prerequisite is psychology 100. Students experience psychology through research and active participation in class activities. Goals include 1) understanding experimental research designs, 2) searching research literature, 3) writing in APA style, and 4) designing/conducting research. Students will be involved in reading and writing activities designed to develop critical scientific thinking skills. Required of all psych majors.

HISTORICAL DEVELOPMENT IN PSYCHOLOGY (HISTORY OF PSYCHOLOGY) 505 will be taught MW 10-12n by Dr. Pettijohn. Psychology 505 is "a consideration of the development of modern scientific psychology from the roots in the school of the 19th century to its contemporary status." This 5 credit history of psychology course will help students understand historical influences on modern psychology. It traces development of the field, from the antecedents of the discipline to the founding of the science of psychology through the major schools of thought. Most interesting to psychology majors/ minors, it is open to anyone and helps students understand intellectual thinking of the past century. It helps students appreciate psychological thought and theory in other courses. Focus is on important people in psychology. Prerequisite is Psych 100.

INTRODUCTION TO COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY 540 involves exploring the foundation and current status of the field of counseling psychology. This 4-credit course taught MW 3-5pm by Dr. Tylka, will first define counseling psychology by reviewing its major domains such as therapy, diversity, ethics, and career counseling. Students will learn techniques of counseling and how to develop a positive therapeutic relationship. Then they will have the opportunity to take the theories and techniques learned in class and apply them within a mock-individual counseling (role play) setting. This is a very useful course for students wanting to go into helping professions (counseling, social work, education). Prerequisite is Psych 100.

Three courses are also offered Autumn Quarter at the Delaware Center: General Psychology 100 is taught MW 1:30-3:45pm and TR 10-12:15pm by Dr. Fohl-Bailey. Academic and Personal Effectiveness 120 is offered MW 1:30-3pm by Dr. Fohl-Bailey.
